what do you value? would anyone save an artwork rather than a person our system would the value of art is set by DEALS and it is property ~ I think art protests will end. They serve their purpose people on the right call for truncheons and screams of pain inflicted for the damage to a safety frame but 5% of the people will wonder why a soiled glass shield is valued more than a living world a great internal light will fill them they will see join act against the fossils pipelines coal mines states
