

Poem 2

The clear glass cover
harbors a pragmatic light bulb.
All night long frenzied silk moths dance
Entranced by its' glowing penumbra.
Culminating in an inevitable exhaustion;
welcomed by the Robin, seeking her breakfast.