

Poem 3

His ammunition fully spent, the hunter stares as his prey,
outlined against a transparent silver moon,
flies through an ocean of air;
leaving no trail to follow.