

Short love poem

As time drifts by

Across a distant divide

You see beyond

When it was

That life was simple love